

For our growing technology start-up in Heidelberg's Bahnstadt we are looking for a

Compulsory intern, graduate student (m/f/d) in marketing

At the earliest possible date.

These are your duties:

As an intern, you will support our communication and marketing in all upcoming measures. You will gain a comprehensive insight into the development of an innovative B2B start-up brand. From the first day, we will fully involve you; according to your interests and previous knowledge, you will work on your own goals within the framework of our company strategy.

This could be, for example, the development of a new marketing channel (e.g. from PR, social media) or a content marketing campaign (e.g. SEO, video, mailing, strategy). You can ask us about specific topics at any time - or you are welcome to make your own suggestions.

This is your profile:

- Enrolled student in a relevant field;
- 3 to 6 months' time;
- You enjoy working on a challenging technology topic in B2B;
- An independent way of working and a "do-er mentality" without losing your ability to work in a team;
- Ideally, you have first experience in B2B marketing as well as knowledge of copywriting, WordPress, SEO and/or image editing.

That's what we do:

HD Vision Systems develops products and solutions for Machine Vision using light field technology and Deep Learning for manufacturing companies in every industry. In this way, we offer fast and easy access to robot vision. Whether 3D scanning, quality inspection or workpiece handling: our focus on user-friendliness builds on our unique combination of hardware and software. This enables our partners to automate flexibly, quickly and easily according to their needs.

Sounds like you?

Then send us your application or get in touch with us now:

Benedikt Karolus, career@hdvisionsystems.com, Tel. +49 6221 672 19-83